The main dining table is a large, curved piece with a clear glass top and a thick, metallic base. The base has a unique, sculptural design with large, circular cutouts and small circular details. On the table, there are several dark, cylindrical glass vases of varying heights. The table is surrounded by several chairs with light-colored, textured upholstery and dark, thin legs.

A smaller, round table with a glass top and a metallic frame is visible in the foreground. It has a few items on it, including what appears to be a magazine or a book.

A built-in shelving unit with a curved, arched top and open shelves. It holds various decorative items, including a white vase, a small lamp, and some folded white linens. The unit is set against a light-colored wall.

A large, arched mirror with a dark frame, reflecting the room and the plants in the background. It is positioned on the wall behind the dining area.

A set of white, curved chairs with a modern, sculptural design, positioned near the mirror and a glass-topped table.

A set of contemporary chairs with light-colored, textured upholstery and dark, thin legs. They are arranged around the main dining table.
